MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT:

Editor's note:

The following arrived too late to be put in the November newsletter. However, Sal Notarmaso feels it is significant enough and should appear in this newsletter in place of the President's Message. It was written by Ben Varvaro, a past member of TIAHA and an IBM employee.

Thanksgiving! Well, thru the years it's become a story in itself.

I was born on Thanksgiving Day and my mother was born on Thanksgiving as well. Most of the time we had a pumpkin pie with candles (lol). But, when they really wanted to make it special, I got an Italian rum cake or a tiramisu decorated for my birthday. I can remember being as young as 7 thru 15, we would have at least 15 people at the dinner table. There were only 5 of us, but, we had at least 10 guests. There were people who worked for my father, there were friends of my older sister and brother, and friends and parents of friends, as well as relatives.

We had a table that sat 12, and the kids ate in the kitchen. The meal lasted all day. There were people dropping over and bringing foods and delicacies of their nationality. There were the Polish, Germans, and more Italians. We had at least 2 kinds of soup, then antipasti [assorted meats and salads], a pasta dish, red sauce, and then the turkey. The stuffing was made Italian style, as only my mother could do. All the inners of the chicken (livers, gizzards, hearts), whole Italian sausage, mushrooms, onions, celery, carrots, garlic and seasoning and we used old, stale grated sliced Italian breads. My mouth is watering and so are my eyes. And the vegetables! There were about five of them. There were mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, corn, green beans with almonds, asparagus, and spinach in cream sauce. But, we Italians always added something special to make them taste even better. Oh, we had a ham too, three kinds of wine and three or four kinds of beer. This started about 2:00 or 3:00 pm, and about 7:00 pm it was time for dessert. Of course there were American coffees and the pies; apple, pumpkin, rhubarb, strawberry, and the Italian stuff; cappuccino, espresso, cannoli, cakes, Pasachua (Bauau), sfogliatella, napoleons, and cream puffs.

And did I mention the house was decorated with food everywhere; trays of nuts, fruits and candies? Half the time I was catching hell for eating out of the dishes in the living room, as soon as they were put out. My mother did a lot of the preparing and the guests brought a lot more. We all helped put it together and with cleaning-up as well. No one slacked or they did not get to come back the next year.

The friends and relatives would stop over and eat leftovers until two weeks before Christmas. It was a wonderful time. However things change, loved ones, and good friends pass on and so does the fun. Oh, to relive it again. We didn't know when we had it good. The conversation and the laughs can never be matched. I know I've spelled some of the foods incorrectly, but I never said I was perfect. I'm just trying to be happy.

I am so glad that you asked what Italians do and have on Thanksgiving. It brought back all the memories of the past. My wife has passed on, but we, as a family, my son and daughter, and my lady-friend are going to "The Italian Garden" or "Cattlemen's" in Durham. If I could have just half the foods and fun of the old days, for Thanksgiving and my birthday, it would make me happy for another year.

Wishing all of you a Happy Thanksgiving,

*God Bless,
Sal Notarmaso*

There will not be a General Meeting this month.

TIAHA EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING MINUTES

December 7th, 2010 at Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Fallon Center, 2718 Overbrook Dr., Raleigh NC

Attendees: Sal Notarmaso, Victor Cononi, Jim Frederici, Charlie Morabito, Peter Cari.

Meeting Called to Order: 7:00pm

Meeting Adjourned: 7:24pm

Location: Applebee's Restaurant, at the intersection of Six Forks Rd. and Wake Forest Rd. in Raleigh

- The board was locked out of the Fallon Center at Our Lady of Lourdes. The cipher lock combination would not work at either the upper level door or the lower level door. Both Sal and Victor tried to contact people or find the nuns, who we were told might have a key to open the door. No luck. No nuns. No key. No entry. So President Sal made a command decision that the meeting would be moved to Applebee's down the road. Thus, the later than usual start time for the meeting.
- While Charlie, Peter and I waited for Sal or Victor to locate a key, I took a candid photo through the windshield Charlie's car, of Peter and Charlie. I'm hoping the photo can be included in the newsletter. Those two guys look like two deer caught in the headlights in the photo.
- The name of our waitress at Applebee's was Lucretia, whom we made an honorary member of the board for the evening only. Now to business...
- President Sal talked about the Bishop's Party to be held at Our Lady of Lourdes Fallon Center on December 16th. TIAHA has been asked to cook a dish for the event, which will serve 25 people. Sal is going to cook the food at his house during the day of the 16th. Victor Cononi will drive to Sal's house and pick up the food at 3:00pm to transport it to the Fallon Center. Sal has in mind to cook 6 lbs. of Chicken Francese and 4 lbs. of pasta. The bishop and the priests will eat well that night.
- Sal said he needed someone to buy the drinks for the TIAHA Christmas Party and take the drinks to the party on December 20th at the Fallon Center, as Sal will not be able to attend the party. Victor Cononi volunteered to do that. The drinks to be served at the TIAHA Christmas party will be soda, red and white wine and beer.
- President Sal reminder everyone about the annual trip to the Oxford Orphanage the evening of December 9th. Frank Ferraro has sent out at least two email notices with the details of when and where everyone meets before forming a caravan to the orphanage in Oxford. Therefore, I won't repeat the details in these meeting minutes.
- There was discussion about the upcoming board elections for 2011. Al Cellini in the past several years has been the nominating committee chairman for the elections that are held during the February general membership meeting. Al, are you going to be the nominating committee chairman again this year? Please let Sal know either way. Sal asked, "Who on the current board will run for positions for the 2011 board?" Charlie Morabito said he'll run again for one of the Member-at-Large positions. Victor Cononi said he'd run again for the Sgt.-at-Arms position. Jim Frederici will not be running for secretary next year. Hopefully, Peter Cari will run for the secretary's position. Peter has been filling in a lot recently for Jim as secretary, as Jim hasn't been able to make many of the meetings due to other obligations. Sal said he will not for President. Since the other board members were not present, we don't know yet what their plans are.
- Dale Mancuso headed up another successful Serve Meals to Our Troops at the USO Club event in November. Dale was home sick the night of the board meeting, so we don't have information on how things went, or on how many of our troops were served by TIAHA at the USO Club in RDU airport.

- Sal told the board that Frank Ferraro will be cooking at the January general membership meeting. There will not be a December general membership meeting. The TIAHA Christmas Party on the 20th will take the place of the December meeting.
- Good & Welfare: Jim Frederici told the board that Ron Little was going into the hospital the next day, Tuesday, December 7th, for surgery on his spine. The surgery is being performed to correct a problem with the spinal cord and nerve bundle running through Ron's spine. The entire board wishes Ron all the best and we hope the surgery is a success, and the recovery period is short. Frank Ferraro's wife, Molly, recently had hip replacement surgery. We wish her all the best in her recovery and therapy. Sal, Jr. is currently serving in Iraq. President Sal said he sent Sal, Jr. a care package with $25 worth of junk food in it. Sal said it cost $26 to mail a package with $25 of junk food! Har Har Har Har Har. (that's Sal laughing).
- Membership: Victor Cononi said he has the badges for new members Armand DeNuzzio and Paul Cacciatore.
- Meeting adjourned at 7:24pm. (when Lucretia brought the food that had been ordered).
- P.S. This is outside of the board meeting: Jim and Paula Frederici received a phone call from Ron Little on Wednesday, December 8th. Ron was calling from his hospital room a day after his spinal surgery. Ron said the surgery went much better than he, June or the surgeons imagined it would. Ron sounded good and upbeat.
- P.P.S. This is also outside of the board meeting: I received an email from Dale Mancuso that said this with regard to the number of troops who were fed by TIAHA at the USO Club in November: "Yes, close to 250 over 2 days. There were leftovers from Tues. that carried over into Wed. We should be getting a letter of thanks from the USO soon." That's great news, Dale! As always, a great job. Get well soon, Dale.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all TIAHA members and your families.

ITALY "Buon Natale"

Christmas, as it is celebrated in Italy, has two origins: the familiar traditions of Christianity blended with the pagan traditions predating the Christmas era. The greatest feast of the ancient Roman Empire, "Saturnalia" (a winter solstice celebration), just happens to coincide with the Christmas celebrations of the Advent. Consequently, Christmas fairs, merry-making and torch processions, honor not only the birth of Christ, but also the birth of the "Unconquered Sun." "Natale," the Italian word for Christmas, is literally the translation for "birthday."

A delightful, but rapidly disappearing tradition in Italy, is the ushering in of the coming festivities by the "Piferari" or fifers. They descend from the mountains of the Abruzzo and Latium playing inviting and characteristic tunes on their bagpipes, filling the air with anticipation for the joyous celebration to come.

Christmas Eve is a time for viewing Italy's artistic and elaborate manger scenes or Cribs. They consist of figurines, in clay or plaster, of the infant Jesus, Mary and Joseph. An ox and ass are nearby because legend has it that they warmed the child with their breath. It is around this basic focal point that individual artisans create their own intricate landscapes. There may be grottoes, small trees, lakes, rivers, the lights of "Bethlehem" in the background, angels hung from wires, and occasionally, even local heroes. The most beautiful Cribs are set up in churches. There is often a contest between churches of the same town for the best Crib. People go from church to church to view and compare the Cribs and displays.

Another tradition is the burning of the Yule log, which must stay alight until New Year's Day. This, again, is an example of pagan and Christian blending. The pagan belief explains the purifying and revitalizing power of fire, and that with the burning log, the old year and its evils are destroyed. Christian legend tells how the Virgin Mary enters the homes of the humble at midnight while the people are away at Midnight Mass and warms her newborn child before the blazing log.

Amidst the general merrymaking and religious observance of Christmas Eve, Christmas tapers (long slender candles) are lighted and a Christmas banquet is spread. In some places, Christmas Eve dinner consists largely of fish. There may be as many as 10 to 20 fish dishes prepared. In Rome, the traditional dish of Christmas Eve is "Capitone," a big female eel, roasted, baked or fried. North of Rome a traditional dish may be pork, sausage packed in a pig's leg, smothered in lentils, or turkey stuffed with chestnuts.

Common throughout Italy are the Christmas sweets: "panettone" (cake filled with candied fruit), "torrone" (nougat) and "panforte" (gingerbread) made with hazelnuts, honey and almonds. All Christmas sweets, as a rule, contain nuts and almonds. Peasant folklore theorizes that to eat nuts favors the fertility of the earth and aids in the increase of flocks and family. In ancient Rome, honey was offered at this time of year so that the new year might be sweet.

Of Special Note...

On Christmas Eve, Italian children set out their shoes for the female Santa Claus, La Befana, to fill with gifts of all kinds like toys, candies and fruit. If the children were good, their shoes would be filled on Christmas morning. If they were bad, they would find their shoes filled with coal. La Befana is the best-known legend in Italy.

DUMB QUOTES

Chuck Knox: Most of my cliches aren't original.

Ralph Kiner: All of the Mets' road wins against Los Angeles this year have been at Dodger Stadium.

Pedro Guerrero: Sometimes they write what I say and not what I mean.

Doug Collins: Any time Detroit scores more than 100 points and holds the other team below 100 points they almost always win.

Dan Bonner: The Minutemen are not tall in terms of height.~~during a UMass basketball game.

Yogi Berra: Well, I used to look like this when I was young and now I still do.

Always go to other people's funerals, otherwise they won't come to yours.

The other teams could make trouble for us if they win.

It was pretty good. Even the music was nice~~said after attending an opera.

Congratulations on breaking my record. I always thought the record would stand until it was broken.

Dick Cavet: If your parents never had children, chances are you won't either.

Mark Fowler: If somebody has a bad heart, they can plug this jack in at night as they go to bed, and it will monitor their heart through the night, and the next morning, if they wake up dead, there'll be a record.

Colonel Gerald Wellman: We don't necessarily discriminate. We simply exclude certain types of people.

David Acfield: Strangely, in slow motion replay, the ball seemed to hang in the air for even longer.
